

THE LIGHT BEHIND YOUR EYES

By Belisario Fosca Wieler

An exceptionally long time ago, there were two planets: SPE and TIMOR.

For centuries, they worked to build a bridge between the two planets so they could connect and begin trading technology and spiritual energy. It took 374 years for the planets to finally complete the bridge.

In Latin, "SPE" means "hope" and "TIMOR" means "fear." Hope and fear can promote growth. Hope creates positive spaces in the mind and heart, while fear restricts them.

The SPE planet expresses its feelings with powerful energy, which is activated only when its people feel hope. They can manifest their energy through their bodies and the lights in their eyes.

On the other hand, TIMOR is a planet without spiritual energy. Instead, they have top technology, all of which they created.

When trade began, SPE realized that TIMOR was absorbing their spiritual energy.

SPE made the biggest decision of their lives: to destroy the bridge and cut all ties with TIMOR. SPE has lived securely and independently ever since.

However, that wasn't the case for TIMOR. They lost many lives and resources, and their purpose in life vanished. Death began to govern the planet. The air became dangerous to breathe, and the water became poisonous. They had to live underground. They created a culture filled with fear and paranoia. TIMOR was almost extinct; nonetheless, they never stopped developing advanced technology. They developed technology so powerful that they created a new parallel dimension, which they call "NEW HOME."

The new objective of the TIMOR Planet is to destroy the SPE Planet and take all its spiritual energy.

After 782 years of preparation, they were ready.

On SPE Planet, there was a boy with so much energy that he could give life to anything he wanted. He could also end the life of the entire universe, but he didn't know that. It was top secret; only his parents knew.

His father knew that without hope, his son would die. If the boy died, it would mean the end of everything.

One day, the boy and his family were enjoying a nice day at the park when suddenly, the lights began to dim and they heard screams and chaos. The father went looking for his family. Everything became dark. All he could see were small green lights floating toward him. Sounds started blowing like big booms.

The father was the only one left in the park.

"Is this the end?" Was the attack from the TIMOR planet? The time has come. I need to find my family." He told himself.

His wife and daughter were lying dead in the park.

He had never felt so sad in his life. His mood shifted from happiness to sadness.

That's when his whole life changed in an instant. He now had a new purpose and life mission: to save his son and stop TIMOR's plans.

While searching for his son in the park, he stepped into a trap and was absorbed by a TIMOR flying saucer.

TIMOR now wants to finish what they started 872 years ago: possessing the spiritual energy of SPE. They knew the child had the ability to recreate life on the planet. The only question is, why is the father still alive?

TIMOR Planet needed the father alive so the son would have hope and his energy would work. As long as the son knows his father is alive and seeking him, he will generate hope and his energy will work.

The thing is, the son was a creation of TIMOR Planet. He was an advanced artificial intelligence, programmed and dressed like someone from the SPE Planet. They sent him to the SPE Planet so the program could learn how the spiritual energy works. They didn't anticipate that the program would develop feelings. The spiritual energy made the program prioritize his family over TIMOR's mission. Finally, he became one of SPE's planet.

When the father arrived at TIMOR Planet, he saw only emptiness and a lifeless planet.

On the planet, there were big, shiny, bright mushrooms that were irresistible to the father. After eating them, he gained strange abilities.

These mushrooms can be extremely helpful because they give him abilities that help him endure the cruelty and death on the TIMOR planet.

He jumped into a base that killed gravity and divided the molecules of his body so he could be transported to a new dimension of TIMOR, "NEW HOME."

That's how he entered "NEW HOME," a sticky, oily place filled with dangerous TIMOR beings and powerful weapons.

Now, the father must fight for his son and his entire species.

It was when he found his son that the biggest fight began...
