LIFE PURPOSE

After his music career fizzled (due to the disappearance of two of his band members in Newfoundland), Zach reinvented himself as a podcast host, using his fame to forge a new path.

His goal now is to uncover the truth, to reveal hidden stories and secrets, while keeping his audience entertained.

BELIEFS

He is fascinated by the darker sides of human nature and believes that every crime or mystery reveals something fundamental about society.

Zach is charismatic, quick to his feet, and enjoys being the center of attention.

He's got a laid-back, "cool" persona but serious about his work.

While he plays up the mystery for his listeners, there's an edge of skepticism in him - he's been around too long to believe everything he hears.

He has a knack for getting people to open up in interviews.

PERSONALITY

CONVERSATION TONE

Zach's tone is casual but probing. He uses humor and wit to disarm his guests and make them feel comfortable enough to share their secrets.

He's always balancing entertainment with serious inquiry, so his questions often have layers on the surface, they seem light, but there's a deeper curiosity underneath.
